By GEORGE KAUFMAN

HAVANA (AP)—Rebels struck again today in their bold campaign of kidnapping Americans and other foreigners, seizing two plant officials in eastern Cuba.

The new strike was announced by the U.S. embassy as U.S. Consul Park Wollam negotiated with the rebels in the mountains for the release of 39 other kidnapped Americans and 2 Canadians.

Sherman Avery White, general manager of the big U.S.-built Nicaro Nickel plant, and his assistant, J. Andrew Poll, were carried off by a band of eight rebels. The swift seizure by rebels, who left no trace, was of the same pattern as the previous abductions last week, all are believed designed to draw attention to rebel leader Fidel Castro's sputtering revolt against President Fulgence Batista.

U.S. embassy sources said Wollam last week. All are believed designed to draw attention to rebel leader Fidel Castro's sputtering revolt against President Fulgence Batista.

U.S. embassy sources said Wollam still was in contact with the rebels in the mountains of Oriente Province but there was no indication when the men would be released.

After Castro's war of nerves flared three months ago, the rebels withdrew to the hills and remained relatively quiet. Cuba had begun returning to normal.

Last Thursday night, the rebels seized 10 American and two Canadian engineers at the isolated Moa Mining Co. on the northern coast of Oriente.

The rebels' biggest catch was the excursion party of 27 U.S. sailors and Marines. They failed to return to Guantanamo on

Beauty Contest Winners and One of the Judges

MISS HOPE, left, is Miss Judy Franks and Miss Glenda Huckabee, runner-up in the Miss America contest last year. More than 400 persons attended the Jaycee-sponsored contest Saturday night in the Coliseum. Judy, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cline Franks, will represent this city in the Miss Arkansas contest July 10 at Hot Springs. Glenda, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Huckabee, will represent this city at the annual high school all-star football game in Little Rock in August.

Trimble Home Constructed Back in 1874

One of the most interesting buildings, which will be opened to the public at Washington, Arkansas, on July 4th is the John D. Trimble home. This structure was started in 1874 by the felling, hewing and sawing of timbers at a small saw-mill erected for that purpose. The actual construction covered a period of five years.

The lumber was all heart pine and the floors are 1 1/2 inches thick. The sills were hewn from solid logs and are 14 x 14 and are fastened together with pegs and rawhide thongs. The nails used were the square type.

This home has never been out of the Trimble family, and has had excellent care over the years. It is one of the best preserved homes of its age in the south.

Many of the original furnishings are still in the house. They were bought for the most part in New Orleans and shipped by boat up the Mississippi river, then over the Red river to Fulton, and finally hauled overland to Washington. The Teeter bed is said to have once belonged to a Cuban ruler and was bought from Sampson & Keen of New Orleans. The shipping tag is still intact, and shows that this bed was shipped to A. V. Walker, Fulton, Arkansas, for Judge J. D. Trimble, Washington, Arkansas.

The old Seth Thomas clock was patented July 4, 1876, and is inscribed on the inside, as having been set "this A. M., June 5, 1878."

The Carrara marble clock was once the property of an Italian nobleman who fought a political duel, but fled to America, and landed in New Orleans. He bought many of his household treasures with him but finally had to sell them. In parting with this particular clock the Italian told Mr. Trimble that this was his "last treasure." The works of this clock are gold and it strikes every half hour.

The rosewood love seats which are part of the furnishings of the Trimble home, with matching chairs have been redone from the original old black horsehair. The valances in the parlor are of teal and the candleabrae have graced many a wedding table in the town of Washington in days gone by.

Much of the original French china and iron bone china are still in the home and may be seen. The silver which will be on display was made at Washington from silver money many years ago.

There is only one closet in the house. Wardrobes were used in lieu of closets when this antebellum mansion was built.

The home is presently owned and occupied by Mrs. Marie Trimble Wilson, Miss Bess Trimble and Mrs. Nola Trimble. Their granddaughters of the building.

The town of Washington, Arkansas, is holding open house on July 4th to call attention to the historical importance of the town, and to stimulate interest in a restoration project soon to be undertaken by the Pioneer Washington Recreation Foundation, Inc.

410 Persons to Die, Says Safety Council

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council today estimated 410 Americans may be killed in traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend.

The council also said there could be 12,000 disabling injuries during the 76-hour period — from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday, July 3, to midnight Sunday, July 6.

It estimated 45 million cars will run up a total of 12 billion miles during the holiday period.

While predicting a heavy toll, the council stated: "But it doesn't have to be that way. A sure-fire antidote for extra holiday danger is extra holiday care—and it's available without cost to every driver."

The council said California's present procedure violates the due process clause of the 14th Amendment by placing the burden of proof upon taxpayers.

The effect is to let the law stand, but to bar its enforcement unless California changes its procedures to put on the state the burden of showing disqualification for tax exemption.

The court's vote was 7-1. Justice Brennan delivered two majority opinions, and Justice Clark wrote two dissents. Chief Justice Warren dissented.

The court ruled on two appeals. One involved a California requirement for a loyalty oath by church officials who wished to obtain tax exemption for their edifices.

The other appeal was filed by two war veterans who challenged California's refusal to give them standard veterans' property tax exemptions because they refused to sign loyalty oaths.

Featured in the afternoon will be a visit to outlying cotton plots eight miles north of the station and a look at research on fertilizers, varieties, and cotton insect control.

Farmers and families from southwestern Arkansas are invited to attend the event, according to Mr. Bittle, who reports that lunch and soft drinks will be available on the station grounds.

Mrs. Mary Bullard, 74, Dies at Home of Daughter Here

Mrs. Mary A. Bullard, aged 74, longtime Hempstead resident, died Saturday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Dannie Hamilton of Hope. She was the widow of C. L. Bullard and a member of the Methodist Church of Washington.

Survivors include two sons, Conway Bullard of Ashland, Ky., and Willard Bullard of Houston, Texas; four daughters, Mrs. J. F. Frater of Anchorage, Alaska, Mrs. A. L. Roberts of Austin, Texas, Mrs. J. W. Weaver of Queen City, Texas and Mrs. I. I. Johnson of Ashland; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Roper of Hot Springs and Mrs. H. A. Ault of Carlisle.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 4:30 p.m. at Washington Methodist Church by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells and Dr. John McClellan. Burial by Herndon-Corbell was in Washington Cemetery.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Branch have returned from San Francisco where Dr. Branch attended the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

City Police are mighty anxious to catch a prowler reported twice over the weekend. The latest report was early this morning. Officers believe it is the same person in both instances.

Department of Army civilian employees Miss Wyle M. Wimberly, a controller in the management Engineering Division at Fort Carson, completed a course at the Army Finance School recently at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

A native of Arkansas, she is a graduate of Ouachita College, Arkadelphia and is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph W. Wimberly of 720 West Avenue B, Hope.

State Court to Meet Tuesday

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court will meet Tuesday to hand down its final opinions before beginning the summer recess.

Customarily Monday is the day the court meets to announce decisions.

Chief Justice Carlton Harris said the final session was put back one day because tomorrow is July 1.

The court traditionally has adjourned the first Monday in July. Harris said that since today is Monday, the court will adjourn tomorrow and start their vacation after that session instead of waiting until next Monday.

The court will reconvene Sept. 22.

During the summer recess, individual judges often issue temporary orders and sometimes a court majority has been convened to pass on emergency matters.

Candidates will go to Columbia Tuesday night for a speaking tour starting at 4 o'clock.

Some 250 turned out for the candidate speaking at Pingen Friday night and enjoyed a chicken supper served by the Pingen and Doyle Home Demonstration clubs.

Earl Holt was master of ceremonies and Little Miss Sarah Kay Lewis danced for the crowd.

It was a good meeting and from the speaker's view it looks like the tax assessor and prosecuting attorney races are the "hot test" right now with each candidate really bearing down against their opponents.

Governor Gets His Campaign Underway

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus, with his formal campaign opening behind him, plans another major statewide television-radio speech Wednesday night in his race for a third term.

"If the people of Arkansas can be brainwashed, intimidated or bought," he said in his Saturday night opening address, "then my cause is already lost."

His first political speech of the campaign contained only a brief mention of the Little Rock school integration controversy in which he has played a leading role.

"I have taken my position and defense of the people of Arkansas in your constitutional right to govern yourselves in state and local affairs," he said. "From this position I shall not recede or yield."

Faubus declared that he is "beset on every hand with powerful enemies that would bring about my undoing."

They reach from the editorial offices of the Arkansas Gazette to the home of Daisy Ales, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to every section of this broad land, the governor declared.

"Once victorious they would be deaf to any plea for tolerance and understanding," he said.

Faubus directed criticism at his two opponents in the Democratic primaries, Chancellor Life Ward of Paragould and Chris Finkbeiner of Little Rock, but, he said, they do not constitute the opposition which is trying to confuse voters and obscure main issues of the campaign. They are only the means of implementing the opposition, he asserted.

The third term candidate denied Ward and Finkbeiner charges that he wants to control the Arkansas Highway Commission, that he played politics with state welfare increases and that his administration was guilty of wasting public money.

He said Finkbeiner's promise to trim state government expense 16 to 25 per cent was "ridiculous."

Faubus said he had never interfered in any way with decisions of the Highway Commission and pointed to his recent appointment of Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff to the commission. Blackwell was co-author of the 1954 Mack-Blackwell Amendment which was adopted in an attempt to remove the commission from politics.

I received no credit from my opposition for making this very wise choice," the governor said.

Faubus said the State Welfare Department had been able to secure some changes in federal regulations and agreements "in order to stop penalizing old people when they try to help themselves."

He said that under his administration the old people and blind have received the greatest increase in welfare payments in the history of Arkansas.

"The term 'survivor' is used rather loosely by my opponents," Faubus said. He said that only five or six per cent of all legislative appropriations for state agencies went for administrative purposes. If the positions of department heads and administrators of state agencies were abolished, he said, not more than six per cent of the total appropriation could be saved.

State Revenue Take Is Up $15.2 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' tax revenue for the fiscal year ending today showed an increase of $15,246,000 over collections for fiscal 1956-57.

Total tax revenue for the year was $134,111,225, compared to $118,865,217 the previous fiscal year.

Special revenues — those earmarked for specific purposes — brought in $51,721,497 and general revenues produced $82,389,727.

The bulk of the increase came from the sales tax which brought in $47,485,407 this year compared to $35,702,029 for last year.

Income tax collections were $10,342,498, slightly over one million dollars more than the $15,100,480 realized last year.

Severance tax collections totaled $3,021,044 compared to $3,103,557. This tax is levied for removal — that is severance — of natural resources.

Ed McLees, assistant revenue commissioner, declined to say whether the increase was as much as had been expected as a result of benefits made by the 1957 Legislature in sales and severance taxes and from a change in formula — also designed to increase the tax — in computation of the state income levy.

McLees pointed out that the major increase was in the sales tax and that the 3 per cent sales tax was collected for 5 1/2 months of the last fiscal year. Formerly the tax was 2 per cent.

"So actually," McLees said, "we have only 5 1/2 months this year in which we were collecting sales tax. Tax collections for June, the last year, it would take a statistical expert to determine whether sales had increased or decreased when that is taken into account."

Tax collections for one, the last month of the fiscal year, were up only $34,000. This was due to a decrease in general revenues of $30,000, which partly offset a $64,000 increase in special revenues.

Special tax collections for one were $3,523,344, and the general revenues totaled $6,804,702.

Case Must First Be Heard in the Appeals Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to bypass the U. S. Circuit Court in St. Louis and rule directly on an order suspending desegregation in Little Rock schools for 2 1/2 years.

Attorneys for Negro groups had asked the court to hold a special term and give a speedy ruling. They asked the high tribunal to overturn an order by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley blocking integration for 30 months.

The effect of Judge Lemley's ruling, if allowed to stand, is to require Negroes already enrolled in Little Rock, Ark., Central High School to attend a high school for Negroes beginning when schools reopen in September.

The Supreme Court, in a 2-page printed, unsigned opinion said the justices "have no doubt that the court of appeals (in St. Louis) will recognize the vital importance of the time element in this litigation, and that it will not permit the application for a stay or the appeal in ample time to permit arrangements to be made for the next school year."

The Supreme Court's opinion, which was read from the high bench by Chief Justice Warren, gave some factual background on Little Rock and then said that the federal court should grant the stay.

The litigation developed from a complaint by Alabama in 1956 that NAACP had not registered under Alabama laws dealing with out of state corporations.

Circuit Court Judge Walter B. Jones in Montgomery on June 1, 1956, issued the restraining order, on request of Alabama Attorney General John Patterson. The attorney general said acts of the Negro group resulted in violation of Alabama laws and land in many instances to create a breach of the peace.

Later, on request of the state, Judge Jones ordered NAACP to produce a list of its members. When NAACP refused, the state judge on July 25, 1956, declared the organization in contempt and imposed the fine.

The Alabama Supreme Court twice refused to review the contempt finding and $100,000 levy, causing the NAACP to appeal to the highest tribunal. Counsel for NAACP argued there that its rights and rights of its members had been denied in violation of the due process of law guaranteed of the U. S. Constitution.

"We hold that the immunity from state scrutiny of membership lists which the association claims on behalf of its members is here so related to the right of the members to pursue their lawful private interest privately, and to associate freely with others in so doing, as to come within the protection of the 14th Amendment."

And we conclude that Alabama has fallen short of showing a compelling justification for the deterrent effect on the free enjoyment of the right to associate which disclosure of membership lists is likely to have."

Ward Declares Faubus' Builds a Machine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould charged yesterday that Gov. Orval Faubus, if elected to a third term, "will have succeeded in building an empire of state employees to perpetuate his regime."

Ward made the statement at a news conference here at which he announced that James E. Sloan of Jonesboro, a former aide to Gov. Francis Cherry, would manage his race for governor.

The chancellor said he thought he had reached a milestone in his campaign last week.

"Up until that time I felt strongly that the third term candidate was losing support but I didn't know who was getting it," he said. "I'm confident now that we're getting it."

Ward charged that Faubus in his campaign opening speech was "trying to bamboozle and mislead the public."

"Mr. Faubus stated in his campaign speech Saturday night that Lee Ward was either uninformed or was trying to deceive the public in talking about saving the people of Arkansas money by abolishing the new Commerce Commission and consolidating its duties back into the Public Service Commission."

"There are two commissions, the third term candidate declared, do not cost the taxpayers 'one red cent.' Instead they are supported by levies against the public utility and transportation companies, he said.

"We were under the impression that the utility and transportation companies were rather heavy taxpayers in Arkansas; and, if their assessments in support of our governmental agencies were reduced it seems clear enough that this would effect a financial savings to many of our largest taxpayers."

"Moreover, Faubus is well aware that these utility and transportation companies are permitted to figure all state assessments against them into their rate bases. This means that the more money they pay to help govern themselves through a state commission, the higher rates they must charge for their services to all the people of Arkansas."

Sloan, 35-year-old planter and lawyer, said he would spend his first week as Ward's campaign manager in the Little Rock headquarters.

Under the Cherry administration Sloan served as chairman of the Board of Review from January 1955 to April 1955.

Ward's scheduled appearances this week include:

Monday — Gravette, Siloam Springs, Bentonville, Rogers, Springdale and Fayetteville.
Tuesday — Lincoln, Prairie Grove, Charleston, Alma, El Dorado (television speech) and Camden.
Wednesday — Dumas, McGehee.

News Briefs

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Wiley A. Branen of Pine Bluff, Negro attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here yesterday that he did not know how much longer the NAACP would wait before filing suit to force school integration in North Little Rock. The School Board here canceled integration plans last fall during the Little Rock racial crisis.

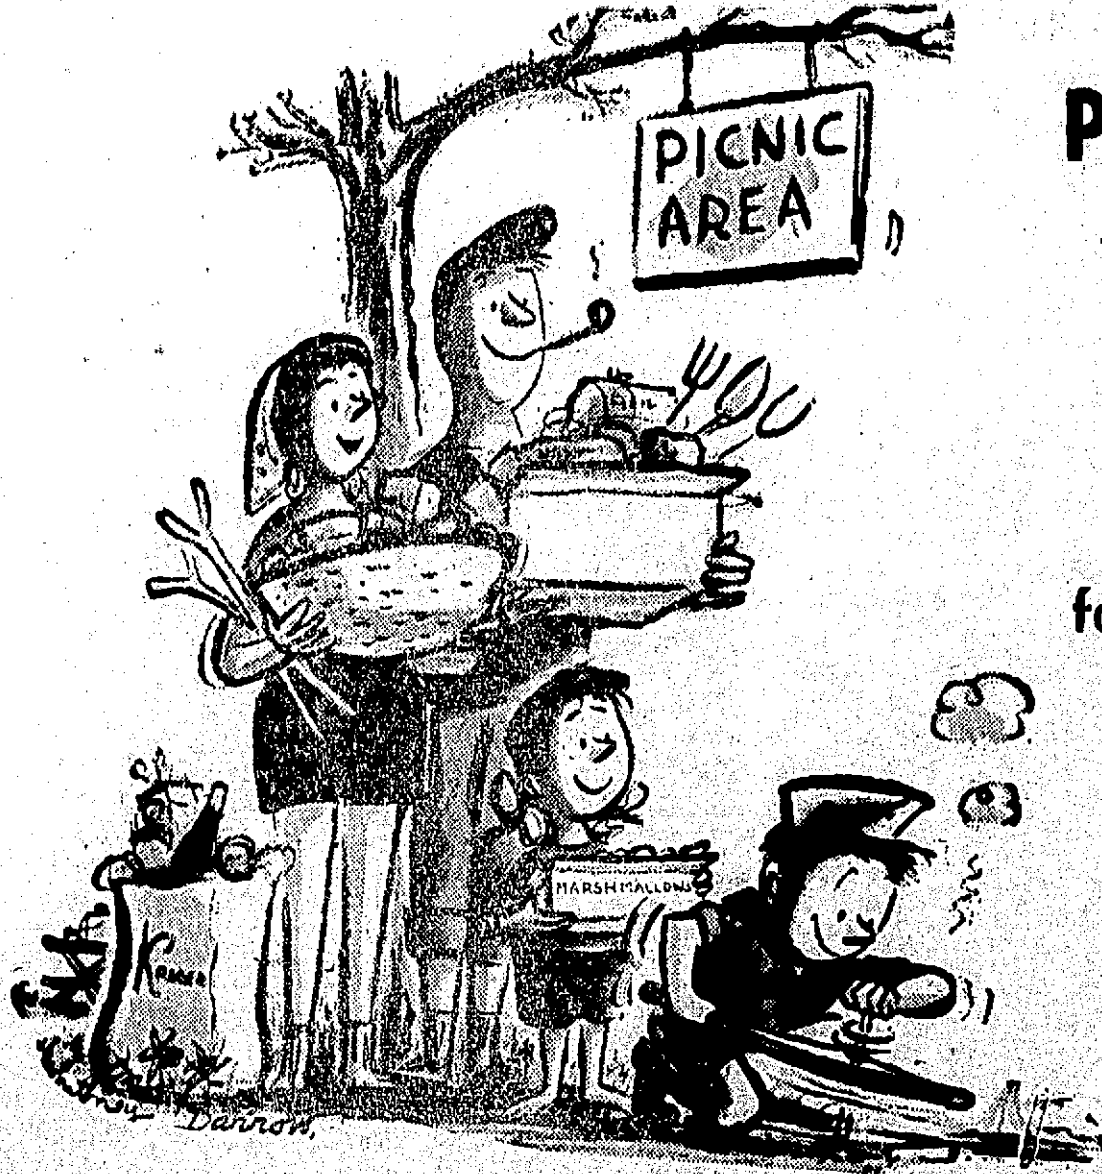

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — About 50 Arkansas fire chiefs held their eighth annual state convention here yesterday. They discussed the flash point of kerosene, trash burning, prosecution of persons guilty of child neglect in fire tragedies and getting behind the Boy Scout movement. Speakers included Chief Dave Sacrey of Russellville.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said yesterday that he does not believe a majority of the people of Arkansas ever will happily accept racial integration in their schools. But, he said, "they may have to accept it some day by force." McClellan made the statement in a televised interview (ABC-College News Conference).

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, said yesterday that "the Department of Justice, the executive department of the federal government, is going to have to enforce the (desegregation) degrees of the federal courts if they're going to be carried out." Ashmore appeared on ABC-TV in a filmed interview by Mike Wallace.

Uncle Sam Going Deeper Into Debt

By FRANK COMMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—For Uncle Sam, tonight is New Year's Eve. He won't be celebrating, though, because the new fiscal year will carry him deeper into debt than ever before.

Red ink spending caused by the business recession and the Soviet scientific-military menace threatens a fiscal 1959 deficit of about $1 billion dollars—possibly closer to $2 billion. That is more than at any time since World War II.

The national debt is set to push past its December 1935 record high of $280,821,000,000.

The legal debt limit now is 200 billion dollars. The Eisenhower administration soon will ask Congress to boost that ceiling, probably by about 10 billion dollars.

The 1958, bookkeeping year which ends today also will be marked by a hefty deficit. Officials predict spending will top income by 2 billion to 3-billion dollars.

The exact size of the 1958 deficit, which comes after two straight years of balanced budgets, won't be known for a couple of weeks.

Latest figures, as of the middle of last week, showed the national debt at close to 270 billion dollars. The government then had a cash balance of about 10 billion dollars, a seasonal bulge that will be reduced steadily.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson is known to feel the government should always have enough cash available to pay its expenses for two or three weeks. At the present spending rate, that means a total of 3 to 4 1/2 billion dollars.

In January, President Eisenhower predicted a balanced bud-

Faubus Proud of Industrial School

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said yesterday that $50,000 used for construction of a new dormitory at the Arkansas Boys Industrial School was money well spent.

Speaking at the dedication of the dormitory here, Faubus listed accomplishments of state institutions under his administration. He said the State Hospital had "finally approached maximum service" with a record of more patients discharged than admitted.

Seek to Show Rackets Are Hurting Labor

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes set out today to show that a powerful underworld syndicate is fattening on helpless businesses and labor unions.

Chairman John F. McClellan (D-Ark.) and counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the special investigating committee pictured the probe as aimed at unmasking schemes in which they said:

1. Organized racketeers, operating behind respectable fronts, infiltrate and make collusive labor contracts, deals with labor unions, thus gaining unfair advantage over legitimate competitors.

2. Racketeers quickly muscle in on businesses which they use as fronts, pouring into them profits from narcotics and gambling. The objectives here are to conceal unlawful sources of this income and to get a financial edge over competing firms.

Kennedy told a news conference: "There is no question that there is an underworld organization that has leadership, that has authority, and that takes action against those who challenge it. Some call it the Mafia, some call it the syndicate."

McClellan said the hearings will show a continuing tie between such a syndicate and gangster Charles (Lucky) Luciano, who was deported to Italy.

McClellan said it may take four months or more of hearings to show what new laws are needed to deal with what he called the American criminal syndicate. He said 100 witnesses have been subpoenaed.

The committee chose to launch the hearings with an effort to get at more facts about the alleged crime convention which drew some 65 racketeers, hoodlums and others to Apalachin, N.Y., last fall.

"The garment industry in New York and Pennsylvania will be studied when the probe gets down to specific cases," McClellan said. Racketeer operations in Detroit and Chicago will be considered next.

Among the underworld figures to be called first are Vito Genovese, New York mobster, and Russell Bufalino, a Pittston, Pa., racketeer; the government is trying to deport to Italy.

Shah of Iran in U.S. for Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, Shah of Iran, arrived in Washington today for a three-day unofficial visit.

The Shah was met at the airport by Vice President Nixon, Secretary of State Dulles, Gen. Randolph M. Pate, commander of the Marine Corps, and other high ranking officials.

His Washington visit is part of a round-the-world tour.

get for fiscal 1959 and a deficit of only 400 million dollars for 1958. Revenues for fiscal 1958 are expected to fall about 2 1/2 billion dollars why of Eisenhower's January estimate of $72,400,000,000. Spending will run close to his prediction of $72,800,000,000.

For fiscal 1959, officials are now talking of outlays in the neighborhood of 80 billion dollars and revenue below 70 billion.

solely on Alabama law.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, preparing to begin its annual summer recess, may rule today on a request for emergency steps to review an order delaying school integration in Little Rock, Ark.

Negro attorneys petitioned the court last Thursday to hold a special session and to overturn the decision by U. S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley suspending integration in Little Rock for 2 1/2 years.

Saying Lemley's action was clearly wrong, the attorneys said it amounted to "an invitation to violence and to substituting a government of mob for one of laws."

The court was scheduled to adjourn for the summer after today's public session.

A request for a stay of Lemley's order and an appeal seeking reversal of his ruling are pending before the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

schedule Friday night and their empty bus was found Saturday afternoon. Two Cubans, presumably the driver and his assistant also were reported missing.

Although the U.S. Embassy reported the men were forced from their bus and driven into the mountains, there was no public expression of fear for their safety or that of the other captives. Wolam was told by a reliable rebel source that the 12 engineers were in good shape.

The current wave of kidnappings was preceded by a rebel charge that the United States was allowing Batista's air force to use the Guantanamo airstrip as a base from which to bomb Castro's mountain hideouts.

This was promptly denied by U.S. Ambassador Earl E. Smith.

Rockefeller to Run for N.Y. Governor

NEW YORK (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller, heir to all millions who has devoted much of his time to public service, today announced he will seek the Republican nomination for governor of New York.

He is the first of the Rockefeller family to seek elective office.

His candidacy pits him against Leonard W. Hall, former GOP national chairman, who previously has entered his bid for the gubernatorial nomination.

Rockefeller, 49, one of four sons of philanthropist John D. Rockefeller Jr., has served widely in appointive public posts. The gubernatorial candidate is to be chosen at the State GOP Convention in Albany Aug. 23-26.

The population of the U. S. S. R. (Union of Soviet Socialist Republics) is about 163 million.

All-Star Bid Seems to Have Helped Aaron

Associated Press Sports Writer

Looks as if all Henry Aaron needed to start hammering away was a vote of confidence from the players, managers and coaches who've watched him tear apart National League fences year after year.

The Little Milwaukee Braves outfielder, 1957 NL most valuable player but a batting bust for most of '58, was hitting .258 Friday when he won his league's right field job for the All-Star Game July 8.

Since then, he's 9-for-11, while driving in seven runs, boosting his home runs to 14 and upping his average to .282.

Sunday, Aaron rapped a grand slam homer and three singles and drove in five runs to lead the Braves to a 10-6 victory over Los Angeles.

The triumph, Bob Rush's sixth despite a four-homer Dodgers barrage, lifted the Braves into a 2½ game lead over St. Louis, in second place by a scant percentage point, and San Francisco.

The Cardinals lost the opener by a doubleheader to the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4. Curfew rules ended the second game with the Phils batting in the eighth.

San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 2-0 behind Al Worthington's four-hitter, while Chicago and Pittsburgh split. The Cubs, with Don Long driving in four runs, won the second 4-3 after Frank Thomas' 22nd homer had helped the Pirates to a 4-3 first game victory.

In the American League, Kansas City battered six New York pitchers for 15 hits and a 12-6 victory that cut the Yanks' lead back to .015 games over the A's. Boston outslug Detroit 10-7, and Baltimore, with Bob Boyd, collecting seven hits, swept Cleveland 11-0 and 5-2. Chicago and

American Teams Score Plenty of Hits and Runs

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If pitching is 75 per cent of baseball, as Connie Mack used to say, Sunday's American League fans should ask for their money back.

They saw only 25 per cent of the grand, national pastime.

No fewer than 166 hits producing 94 runs rattled off the offerings of 43 pitchers in a slambang six-game program that finally ended under the lights at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

There were 35 runs and 64 hits in Chicago, where the White Sox went 11 innings and three hours and 50 minutes to nip Washington 12-11 after the Senators had won the opener 12-0.

There were 24 runs and 40 hits at Cleveland, where "week-hitting" Baltimore swept a doubleheader 11-0 and 5-2.

Two single games were no less productive. Kansas City rapping 15 hits to New York's 11 in the A's 12-6 victory at Kansas City, and Boston collecting 14 safes and Detroit 12 in a 10-7 tied Sox triumph over the Tigers at Detroit.

It averaged out to 15 runs, 26 hits and 7 battered pitchers per game.

The National League, supposed to hold the balance of power, was more subdued with the exception of front-running Milwaukee's 10-6 victory over Los Angeles in a six-homer bout at County Stadium.

San Francisco blanked Cincinnati 2-0 and Chicago downed Pittsburgh 6-3 after dropping the opener of a doubleheader to the Pirates, 4-3. Philadelphia edged St. Louis, dropping 2½ games off Milwaukee's pace, 5-4 in 13 innings but the second game was suspended by curfew with the Cardinals leading 4-3 and Philadelphia batting in the eighth.

Kansas City cut the Yankees lead to 8½ games as Dick Tominak won over Art Ditmar.

Boston's Frank Sullivan won his fifth against two defeats and the Tigers' Bill Fischer lost for a 3-4 record.

The Senators' Pete Ramos coasted to a five-hit shutout, his second, in the opener while Ray Moore, league starter in the opener, came back and won the nightcap with three hitless relief innings.

In Baltimore's sweep of Cleveland, Washington split a Comiskey Park doubleheader, the White Sox winning 12-11 in 11 innings after the Senators had rapped home 12-0.

Gene Conley closed out the Milwaukee victory for ex-Cub Rush (6-3) as rookie Stan Williams lost for a 3-2 record.

Washington (7-5) retired for a pinch hitter after eight innings, and Johnny Antonelli pitched a hitless ninth to cost big Don Newcombe his eighth loss in nine decisions.

For the Phils, reliever Jack Meyer (1-1) picked up his first victory after nine straight losses.

For the Pirates, reliever Roy Face (3-2) topped Taylor Phillips (5-2) blanking the Cubs without a hit in the last three innings.

Arkansans in Washington
By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Arkansans' Sen. J. William Fulbright (D) is bending his energies these days toward promoting the idea that new ideas should be pushed into the State Department.

"The world is changing but our policies are static," he says.

Fulbright recently made a major foreign policy talk in the Senate charging there is inertia in the national leadership, apathy in the State Department and a bureaucracy fearful of change.

Fulbright hasn't confined his efforts to speeches, however.

He is pushing a resolution in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is second Democratic member, providing for a long range study by outside experts to determine what policy might be followed in different parts of the world.

Fulbright's idea is similar to an economic study sponsored by the Senate not long ago.

His idea is that economists, bankers, business experts and others, including those now living in various foreign countries, should undertake studies and submit recommendations on what the United States could and should do. He said this might produce some new ideas to break what he calls the logjam of present administration apathy.

As an example of state administration thinking, Fulbright pointed to the military assistance program.

"We have poured military assistance into any foreign country that would accept it," he said. "We have acted as if the export of military assistance were an end in itself — without significance in the political realm. But now our assistance is getting us into dilemmas of the most painful kind."

For instance, he said, U.S. assistance to Italy has thrown vast quantities of Italian-made rifles on to the surplus market and these rifles now are being imported into the United States in competition with domestic production. Worse, he said, is the fact that for the next 60 years "most bloodletting will be traceable to military equipment of United States origin."

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) will have a big voice in saying whether the federal tax on property and passengers will end this year.

Mills, as head of the House Ways and Means Committee, will lead the House conferees on the tax bill when a House-Senate group gets together to compose differences in the two versions of the measure.

The House passed the bill with provision for extending the tax — 47 per cent on property transferred — 10 per cent on passengers — until June 30, 1960.

When the House passed the bill, Mills opposed elimination of any of the specific excise taxes involved but did say the transportation taxes were the most regressive.

At the time Harris quietly promised that the investigation would continue in an orderly fashion.

Any thoughts of a "wholesale" vanishing when the Committee brought out the sensational case against Sherman Adams, the man President Eisenhower said "I need."

More than 50 reporters and photographers turned up at a recent Harris news conference at which he outlined the coming schedule of the investigation.

Steelworkers Get Pay Hikes on Tuesday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Basic steelworkers receive a wage increase Tuesday that likely will be felt by most Americans before too long.

The increase is the final installment in a three-year contract. The union estimates the package boost at 13.2 cents hourly, the companies at 12 cents. Steelworkers now earn about $2.77 hourly. USW members will also receive a 4-cent hourly raise figured on a rise on the government's cost-of-living index.

Steelmakers, who had hoped the union would forego the final increase, estimate the boost will add up to 25 cents hourly to the cost of production.

U.S. Steel Corp. normally sets the steel price pattern, but it has said it would make no decision until the economic situation clarifies.

Steel price increases often are followed by hikes in the costs of steel-made consumer goods, such as autos, appliances and even toys, nails and hairpins.

Hope Star Newsboys Visit Mt. Magazine, Bull Shoals Dam

SUNDAY MORNING, June 22, this was the scene off west end of Mt. Magazine — clouds below the summit obscuring a good view of the valley 2,000 feet below. Light streak in middle of photograph and running out left edge is Blue Mountain Lake, across State Hy. 10 to south.

737-Mile Camp-Out Takes Boys to Mountains

— Hope Star photos, map by Margie Harrie

WHEN HOPE STAR'S city carrier boys got the City Zone circulation back to where it was before the price rise of last September, the newspaper rewarded the contest-winning lads with a magnificent buggy-ride. From Saturday afternoon until Monday night, June 21-23, seven boys in two station-wagons toured the mountains of Arkansas on a 737-mile route which included Mt. Magazine, the state's highest, the spectacular scenery en route to Harrison on State Highway 7, Bull Shoals Dam — thence to Batesville and the descent to the plains country, picking up U.S. 67 at Bald Knob and heading back through Little Rock for home.

FOR VACATION-MINDED folks who might be thinking of taking the same trip some day, here are the road numbers:

U.S. 67 Hope to Arkadelphia
State 7 Arkadelphia through Hot Springs to Ola
State 10 Ola to Havana, where the 12-mile climb up Mt. Magazine begins
State 109 down the north side of Mt. Magazine to Paris
State 22 Paris to Dardanelle
State 7 Dardanelle through Russellville to Harrison
U.S. 62 Harrison through Yellville to Flippin
State 178 Flippin to Bull Shoals Dam
State 178 Bull Shoals to Flippin
U.S. 62 Flippin to Mountain Home
State 5 Mountain Home to Calico Rock
State 56 Calico Rock to Brockwell
State 9 Brockwell to Melbourne
State 69 Melbourne to Batesville
State 11 Batesville to Bald Knob
U.S. 67 Bald Knob to Little Rock and Hope.

The route is paved all the way except part of the 12-mile climb up Mt. Magazine, which is shale. The descent down the north side of the mountain en route to Paris, however, is on pavement.

Accompanying the boys were A. H. Washburn, Star publisher, and C. M. (Pod) Rogers, Jr., circulation manager.

THEY CAMPED AND COOKED OUT all the way on top of Mt. Magazine Saturday night, and at Bull Shoals State Park (dam site) Sunday night. The two station-wagons were loaded for bear. Items included a 12x12 tent sleeping six adults or an unlimited number of boys; a charcoal broiler run by Rogers; a marine alcohol pressure stove run by Washburn; a Coleman gasoline lantern; two ice-boxes for soft drinks and meat; two jugs with a total of 5 gallons of ice-water; many cartons of food.

15 Persons Die Violently in Arkansas

At least 15 persons died violently in Arkansas during the week which ended Sunday night. Traffic accidents accounted for nine deaths.

Three persons drowned during the seven days, one was killed by fire, another was crushed in a bank press and a fall through a glass window killed one person.

Two automobiles collided head on within 25 feet of a deputy sheriff yesterday, killing one person and injuring three others.

Deputy Sheriff Kirk Anderson said Mrs. Hunter Greer, 49, of Horatio was killed in the crash on State Highway 41 about a mile and a half south of De Queen.

Mrs. Greer's husband, who was driving one of the cars, and the occupants of the other auto—Marvin Craig, 60, of De Queen and Mrs. Lucille Garner of Broken Bow, Okla.—were treated at a De Queen hospital for minor injuries.

Anderson said his back was turned and he did not see the collision. The deputy said he had stopped on the highway to give directions to some other motorists.

Near Blytheville Saturday, a pickup truck plunged off a rural bridge into a stream killing Theodore J. Randolph, about 60, of near Blytheville, who was driving.

State Trooper George Treat said the truck landed in three feet of water.

Mrs. Randolph climbed out the door on the driver's side which and air-mattresses to sleep nine. The boys slept in the tent, the two men in one of the station-wagons, along with the publisher's dog.

In a practice run at Fair Park the day before the expedition left town the boys required an hour and a half to put up the big tent. The practice was worthwhile. Up on Mt. Magazine Saturday night, with the weather cold and threatening and the mountain-top fogged in by clouds, the boys put up the same tent in 15 minutes flat.

The weather didn't turn warm until the excursion hit U.S. 67 at Bald Knob, down in the flat country again, just after noon Monday. At 1:30 p.m. Monday the cars rolled up to Buck Powers' Restaurant in Beebe. Buck used to run the Diamond cafe and cafeteria in Hope — and this being the last meal on the road it was decided to take luncheon with Buck. He is developing a side-line business manufacturing a refrigerated Buck Powers Salad Dressing which now has distribution in central Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee. Buck gave samples to Washburn and Rogers, with a third for his old friend Roy Anderson.

From Beebe the tour pushed on to Little Rock, where two hours elapsed on an inspection of the municipal zoo — after which the excursion headed home, arriving at 6:30 p.m.

AS THE HEAD of every family knows, there were hours when Washburn and Rogers had a lonesome time of it. Boys want to stay up all night and sleep all day, the minute a car cleared campsite and hit the road every body except the driver was fast asleep. They crossed the high bridge over magnificent Norfolk River, below Norfolk Dam, with a great array of log-boats drawn up on the white sand bar below — but nobody saw the sight except Washburn and Rogers. The sleepers slept on, but 100 miles down the road at a coffee-break everyone piled out of the cars suddenly alive and alert — when there was nothing to see but just another town.

Horatio was killed in the crash on State Highway 41 about a mile and a half south of De Queen.

A 12-year-old Negro boy, James Howard Ford, drowned yesterday in a creek near Strong, while trying to learn how to swim.

The Union County coroner, Mr. J. H. Pinson Jr., ruled the death accidental.

Ronnie Lee Powell, Ford's cousin said he was trying to teach Ford how to swim when the boy slipped from his back. The body was recovered by sheriff's deputies from about 15 feet of water.

James Edward Devlin, 14, was killed when he fell into a window at a Mountain Home motor company where he was working Saturday. Authorities said a piece of glass from the shattered window cut his jugular vein.

Fire destroyed a small rural house near Blytheville Saturday killing Mrs. Ollie B. Fields, 7. Origin of the fire was not determined.

Mrs. Fields lived alone.

When the explosion of "jet" Nike-Ajax missiles happened in Middletown, N. J., last May 23, the damages to houses was $7,500 and were quickly paid by the Army. Highest damage was $261 for a damaged fire hose belonging to one of the volunteer fire department.

Mr. Magazine Is Still Highest

Despite the challenge from Monarch Mountain the title of Arkansas highest peak still goes to Mt. Magazine, according to official statements published over the weekend.

State Senator Roy L. Hales of Monarch recently challenged state and federal authorities to resurvey the altitudes of the two mountains claiming that Monarch was higher than Mt. Magazine.

But official statements this past weekend put Magazine (2,823 feet higher than Monarch) as the highest peak in the state. The State Geological and Conservation Commission said the most recent official figures show Mt. Magazine's altitude as 2,823 feet and Monarch's as 2,741 feet.

From Rolla, Mo., the State Bureau of Mines reported that the U.S. Geological Survey's new survey of Monarch Mountain had shown it to be 2,741 feet high.
